WHO declares $Moneytox a Public Health Emergency of International Concern and plans to roll out two vaccines

The claim is that 3.7% of cases result in death—which is higher than what was claimed for COVID at the start: 14,000 cases and 524 deaths (most in children) in 2024. This is extremely unlikely for a number of reasons...

Then look at the number of “Daily confirmed cases” worldwide according to Our World in Data 1:

Mpox: Daily confirmed cases

7-day rolling average

Then contextualize this with regard to “deaths”.

Mpox: Daily confirmed deaths per million people

7-day rolling average

The so-called increase in death rate being propagated by strange unelected individuals with investments to protect involves absolutely negligible numbers - and that's assuming even these numbers aren't fabricated. WHO knows, at this point. Public distrust is at an all-time high due to the COVID-19 "mismanagement debacle".

That so-called "peak" at the end of July (right before US election - cough, cough) represents - according to OWID - a rate of 0.0002 deaths per million people. That's 0.0002/1,000,000 people. That's a 0.0000000002 chance, or a 1 in 5 billion chance of dying from mpox according to the current 'case' and 'death' rates. This does not a pandemic nor emergency make.

Let me demonstrate with an even better graph why these are simply really bad scare tactics.

MONEY POX is on the rise!

"This is getting embarrassing for the WHO, me thinks"

Nothing is embarrassing for shameless demon-lizard-people - me thinks.

This is the WHO's method to coerce Africa into the mire they escaped with the COVID-19 assault.
