

Jan 12, 2023

152

What is the US “Gas Stove Ban” REALLY about?

What sounds like overreach in itself, is actually a cover for something potentially far, far worse.

Kit Knightly

The Biden administration is apparently looking to ban gas stoves, calling them a “hidden danger”. But while that sounds bad enough, a deeper dive shows – as usual – it’s not really about what they say it’s about.

Talk of banning gas stoves and “unregulated indoor air quality” could be a Trojan horse designed to get even more “smart” monitoring technology into your home.

Let’s jump in.

ARE GAS STOVES DANGEROUS?

Well, according to Alexandria Ocasio Cortez, the New Scientist and million other outlets and pundits who started talking about it in the last two days, yes.

Earlier this week near-identical articles from the National Review, Bloomberg and CNN detail how the US Consumer Product Safety Commission will be opening “public comment on the dangers of gas stoves sometime this winter”.

The articles claim:

“ The emissions have been linked to illness, cardiovascular problems, cancer, and other health conditions. More than 12 percent of current childhood asthma cases are linked to gas stove use, according to peer-reviewed research published in the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health last month.

Now would be a good time to talk about the phrase “linked to”. It’s always a good one to look out for in any mainstream publication. Journalists love it because it implies causation without stating it.

Consider, one hundred per cent of serial killers have been linked to the ingestion of water and the wearing of shoes.

If this manipulative use of language were not evidence enough of an agenda, the rather premature deployment of the race card proves it:

“ Senator Cory Booker (D., N.J.) and Representative Don Beyer (D., Va.) wrote a letter to the agency last month urging the commission to address the issue and calling the harmful emissions a “cumulative burden” on black, Latino and low-income households.

SO, WILL THEY BAN THEM?

Actually, probably not.

Considering that, according to Bloomberg, some 40% of US homes use gas stoves to cook, an outright ban would be impractical to the point of madness. You can't criminalise 40% of the country. It would be almost unenforceable.

Perhaps they might try a “phasing out”, as they plan for petrol cars in California.

But most likely of all is that this was never really about banning stoves in the first place.

OK, SO WHAT'S IT REALLY ABOUT?

What we’re seeing here looks to be your classic bait-and-switch. Having established a “problem”, the powers that be suggest a solution they have no intention of ever carrying out (the more unreasonable the better).

When this measure is inevitably rejected by the public, the government will then proceed to suggest – or pay an NGO to suggest to them – a “compromise” measure.

The compromise is no compromise at all, of course, but actually what they wanted to do from the beginning. Nevertheless, the whole process is sold in the media as a victory for whichever party happens to be in opposition, and cited as evidence that “the system works”.

Tellingly, as I am writing this, Biden has already “ruled out a ban due to backlash”, and Vox were already using the “compromise” a lot in an article they published yesterday.

However, what that “compromise” would be in this case isn’t clear at first, you have to do a little digging.

One clue is present in the National Review article [emphasis added]:

“The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers argues that cooking produces harmful emissions regardless of the kind of stove used. “Ventilation is really where this discussion should be, rather than banning one particular type of technology,” Jill Notini, a vice president at the association, told Bloomberg. “Banning one type of a cooking appliance is not going to address the concerns about overall indoor air quality. We may need some behavior change, we may need [people] to turn on their hoods when cooking.”

And you'll find another in the abstract of the original report on “Cooking With Gas, Household Air Pollution, and Asthma: Little Recognized Risk for Children”, published in the Journal of Environmental Science in April 2021:

“ The impact [of gas stove cooking] on children can be substantial because [...] indoor air is unregulated.

“Ventilation is where this discussion should be”, after all “cooking produces harmful emissions regardless of the kind of stove” and a ban wouldn't address “concerns about overall indoor air quality” which is currently “unregulated”.

Do you see where this is going?

It's not about gas stoves, and it's not about asthma – it's about “indoor air pollution”, and more importantly how they plan on “regulating” it.

In one of those startling coincidences we've all got so used to witnessing in modern geopolitics, just as the US is talking about indoor air quality because of gas stoves, other countries around the world are doing the same thing for totally different reasons.

Singapore is considering new regulations on indoor air quality too, but because of formaldehyde.

Last month The Conversation was running articles claiming “indoor air pollution kills”, while Sir Chris Whitty, the UK's chief medical officer, was “demanding action on indoor air pollution”.

On Monday, in a Guardian lifestyle piece purportedly about scented candles, Svetlana Stevanovic calls indoor air quality a “going concern”.

Two days ago The Tyee, an “independent” Canadian magazine which receives some funding from the Canadian government, ran an op-ed headlined:

“ We Need a Revolution in Clean Indoor Air ”

Which attempts to link improving indoor air quality to “ending Covid” (whilst making sure to sufficiently fluff the vaccines, of course).

Just yesterday the Irish Times published an article about the dangers of poor indoor air quality.

In a rather interesting piece of timing, the air hygiene technology company AeroClean and Molekule, a market leader for air purifiers, finalised a public stock merger...also just yesterday.

Two days ago it was announced IKEA would be selling their own smart air monitors, the same day Samsung announced their new “smart air purifier”.

Earlier today Chinese tech giant Xiaomi issued a media release about their new smart air monitoring technology.

A recent report expects the global air monitor technology market to swell to nearly 6 billion dollars in the next three years.

But I’m sure this is all just a coincidence.

WHERE DOES THIS LEAD?

Well, if I had to guess I would suggest some new “smart” technology is coming that will monitor air quality and indoor CO₂ emissions. Like smart electricity and water meters, but for your air.

Interestingly, the World Economic Forum agrees with me, publishing an article on their website last July headlined “Indoor air pollution: What causes it and how to tackle it”, which claims:

“ indoor air pollutants can now be detected with more precise, efficient, and compact sensors thanks to advances in environmental sensing technology. As a result, intelligent home systems may soon use sensors like these to keep track of indoor air quality and notify the ventilation system before dangerous levels are reached.

As part of “backing down” from the stove ban, they will introduce a new bill which sees “smart air monitors” become mandatory in all new-build houses, hotels and rented accommodation.

Just like smart electricity meters, smart air monitors would almost certainly be used to harvest huge amounts of data and give states or corporations the ability to control your home.

If your “indoor air” isn’t “clean” enough; if you use your stove too much, burn too many scented candles or emit too much CO₂, expect to get penalized in some fashion until you learn how to be more responsible.

More smart technology, more monitoring, and ultimately more control.

So, while it's possible the gas stove ban talk will resolve itself into the cliché new tax or fines or some other petty scheme for bilking the many out of their wages, the signs are certainly there it might be something more sinister.

Meanwhile, expect to keep seeing reports on gas stoves damaging the climate, or stories about poor indoor air quality making covid worse.

The usual bought-and-paid-for columns that support every new normal narrative.

SUPPORT OFFGUARDIAN

Choose amount 🔒 ● ○ ○ →

One-time Monthly

£ 1

£ 2

£ 3

£ 5

£ 10

£ 20

£ Custom Amount

Write us a comment

Next →

Powered by Donorbox \(https://poweredby.donorbox.org?utm_source=Poweredby&utm_campaign=Support Off-Guardian&utm_content=347393&utm_org=OffGuardian\)

For direct-transfer bank details click here.

FILED UNDER: LATEST, OFFG FOCUS, THE "NEW NORMAL", WHILE YOU WERE WATCHING THE WAR...

TAGGED WITH: AIR FILTERS, AOC, ASTHMA, CHRIS WHITTY, GAS STOVE BAN, GUARDIAN, IKEA, JOE BIDEN, POLLUTION, SAMSUNG, SINGAPORE, SMART METERS, SMART TECHNOLOGY, UK

4.4

Article Rating

Subscribe ▾

Connect with Login

Join the discussion

8000

152 COMMENTS

⚡ 🔥 most voted ▾

Howard Jan 13, 2023 2:20 PM

I have an idea. How about banning ALL new chemicals and ALL additives to food, clothing and shelter? Oh, and ALL pollutants attached to cleansing products.

That way, there will be no "indoor air pollution." Problem solved.

👍 38 0 🗨️ Reply

Ananda Jan 13, 2023 6:30 PM

Reply to Howard

That type of thinking is misinformation in today's world.

;0)

👍 5 -1 🗨️ Reply

Pilgrim Shadow Jan 13, 2023 1:11 PM

AND THEN WE TOLD THEM THEIR STOVES WERE WHY THEY WERE STUPID AND UNHEALTHY

👍 28 0 🗨️ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 4:24 PM

I'm now sitting in the doctors and it is back to wall to wall barriers with the receptionist behind a barricade handing me a mask. She didn't say wear it so I'm not. I'm guessing this Auschwitz chic is here to stay. Ooh did you hear what I said there? I'm so dangerous! Someone take away my soapbox!

👍 22 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 5:28 PM

Reply to George Mc

So I went in to see the doctor and asked if I'm supposed to wear this mask. He said, "Well we ask you to". And since he was wearing his I assumed he was a bit pissed off about me continuing to not wear mine. Slight hostile atmos there.

But it got me thinking. Three years into this charade and the NHS staff must still grind this grunge out? Do they really believe it? Are they all scared they'll get struck off for so much as a snort of derision?

👍 22 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Pilgrim Shadow Jan 13, 2023 7:21 PM

Reply to George Mc

The competency and integrity of any doctor or health care practitioner still advocating mask use is immediately in question.

👍 20 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Ort Jan 13, 2023 8:21 PM

Reply to George Mc

I kept my annual prostate check appointment at Main Line Health's (MLH) Lankenau Medical Center this past Tuesday although I no longer assume that such routine checkups are helpful as marketed.

Last week, I visited another MLH facility to get the required pre-checkup PSA blood test. I wasn't wearing or carrying a mask, but the receptionist handed me one. Yes, I "automatically" wore it. I was annoyed because when I visited the Medical Center for my checkup last year, the hospital didn't require masks. Why would one MLH facility still require masks if another doesn't?

Anyway, on Tuesday I was disconcerted to find "Masks Required" signage posted all over the hospital. I just kept going. I was certain that the urology office staffer who did my intake would hand me a mask, just as the laboratory receptionist did.

Every staffer and patient in the waiting area was masked. I was (pleasantly, more or less) surprised that the receptionist didn't hand me a mask, or even officiously point to the signage in the suite. Dr. H. is low-key, and, er, more focused on my nether regions than my face. But I was sure that he would at least remark upon my non-compliant masklessness.

Instead, I was flabbergasted that no one said one goddamned word about my non-masked countenance. That was "good" and "encouraging", as far as it goes. But in its own way, it was disconcerting. It is accurate to describe this by saying that everybody treated me as if I were wearing a mask. I found this eerie.

It's not as if this is "news", but this surrealistic episode is proof to any rational thinker that masking is not, and never was, a "public health" measure. Yeah, I know that for most Off-G commenters, this is an old story.

But I remain surprised, and even aghast, that especially the medical professionals aren't bothering to keep up appearances, and/or that medical center management evidently doesn't insist that staff reinforce the "mask up for everybody's good health" Big Lie. 🤔

👍 6 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 9:47 PM

Reply to Ort

A fascinating story and one that proves that nobody really believes any of it. It appears to be pure habit unaccompanied by thought. It may even reach the point where the masks indicate some kind of "ethereal" difference whose meaning has long disappeared.

👍 5 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Hemlockfen Jan 13, 2023 10:31 PM

Reply to Ort

Last time I went I said no. No prostate check. No PSA test. Period. If you do have cancer the risk is low because it grows so slow. And the surgery does serious damage and significantly affects your quality of life. My personal doctor suggested to never get tested for those reasons. He retired before Covid. Trusted him with my life. I can assure you the AMA would not stand with my position. Why is that?

👍 2 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Hemlockfen Jan 13, 2023 10:23 PM

Reply to George Mc

I plan to do the same the next time I go to the doctor. "Do I have to?" Just to fuck with them. They are just covering their asses. Fucking liars. They will never stop lying. I have no respect for modern medicine. They will never deserve it until they come clean.

👍 3 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Hemlockfen Jan 13, 2023 10:19 PM

Reply to George Mc

I heard it. More people have been killed and maimed by this "vaccine" than all of the people killed and maimed in the WWII era concentration camps. That's what I heard.

👍 3 -1 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Lorie Jan 13, 2023 5:54 PM

Thanks Kit. "pushing more 'smart' tech" was my exact thought when I heard the crap about gas stoves. If the past 20 years (since sept 11 2001), or really since 9/11, have taught us anything, it's that any time tptb are "concerned" about us, we'd better start worrying.

👍 21 0 🗨️ Reply

MOOSE Jan 13, 2023 7:58 PM

Reply to Lorie

Right on Lorie!!!

👍 0 0 🗨️ Reply

May Hem Jan 13, 2023 9:05 PM

We could, of course, grow more trees. Re-growing the earth's great forests is the best way to reduce carbon and to have clean air. Then we could open our windows.

No good. Would produce healthy people who might not let themselves be controlled.

👍 19 0 🗨️ Reply

May Hem Jan 13, 2023 9:30 PM

Reply to May Hem

Error, I meant "controlled", but con-rolled is descriptive of what the globos are trying to do to us.

👍 5 0 🗨️ Reply

johnnyo Jan 14, 2023 12:29 AM

Reply to May Hem

Ahh, mmm, uh hey Ms, Hem, you MAY have just accidently coined a gem

a real keeper

Conrolled

just what the useless bastards been tryna do

for like ever

👍 6 0 🗨️ Reply

Hemlockfen Jan 13, 2023 9:38 PM

Reply to May Hem

Not just trees. Green plants in general (including food producing crops). No plants: no oxygen.

👍 8 0 🗨️ Reply

dom irritant Jan 14, 2023 6:19 AM

Reply to May Hem

what the effing ell is wrong with carbon ffs

👍 1 0 🗨️ Reply

ChairmanDrusha Jan 13, 2023 1:59 PM

Isn't it amazing how all the crises happen in all the Anglo empire countries at the same time, but for ostensibly different reasons?

For example, in NZ we currently have an apparent chicken egg shortage, just like in the UK. Who'd fucken bet in it? But as it happens, it seems to be predominantly only taking place in the scumbag internationally owned megachain supermarkets.

Pull the other one.

👍 19 0 🗨️ Reply

NikkiBop Jan 13, 2023 3:37 PM

Reply to ChairmanDrusha

I was told by a large chicken farm (friends who raise chickens for Foster Farms) that the whole bird flu scare was just a big nothing burger. Another "manufactured crisis".

👍 16 0 🗨️ Reply

Edith Jan 13, 2023 9:13 PM

Reply to NikkiBop

That would be pretty obvious....and I can bet that blackrock and co are behind the manifestation thereof...

👍 3 0 🗨️ Reply

JOS Jan 14, 2023 9:18 AM

Reply to NikkiBop

I remember about 30 years ago I was told by a colleague who had switched from journalism to teaching that when the news got thin and no one was buying the latest grim-reaper garbage they would run with 'bird flu' because, just like with 'human flu' there were always some birds somewhere that had it. Since then I've never believed a word the MSM says though it's vaguely interesting to keep looking to see what the next scam tptb have in store for us is.

👍 0 0 🗨️ Reply

Speedwellian Jan 13, 2023 9:56 PM

Reply to ChairmanDrusha

Same in Oz, a temporary shortage the sign said. My chickens just ignore it.

👍 5 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Jonas Carling Jan 13, 2023 1:27 PM

Given the slow and relentless transformation of our homes into offices (for remote working), it makes sense (for TPTB) to enforce the office space standards and regulations into your homes, which is a pre-condition for insurance companies to shift all the liabilities from the office space to your home.

Today is the ventilation system, tomorrow will be the house webcams, and within 2-3 years you will be coerced into "upgrading" your house to office standards as a condition to continue to work for certain employers.

👍 19 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 1:13 PM

In retrospect, "the scientific method" was always an excellent opportunity for scamming, as it provides the notion of hidden causes only discernable by "experts". And when it morphed into "The Science", the scam went into overdrive. "The experts" can now say anything they are required to say.

Here's how it works: The bosses hand down the instruction, which could be:

"Kill all the children."

"We've decided the Earth is flat after all."

"Bricks are edible and the best nourishment."

"Koala bears are the ultimate evil."

Etc.

And, whatever it is, the designated experts generate volumes of sci-medico gloop that takes the instruction and dresses it up in impenetrable "proofs".

After which the current celebrity boffins go on media tours and perform the necessary song and dance, the media in general grinds out the CGI photos and the archival department rewrites the history books.

A magnificent production.

👍 19 -1 🗨️ ➔ Reply

May Hem Jan 13, 2023 9:29 PM

I prefer to cook with gas and have gas bottles as I live in a rural area. Forcing people to have all-electric homes makes them easier to control. Their power supply can be rationed (to save the planet of course), or remotely switched off. 5G and smart meters are control devices.

I'm expecting real fireplaces and wood stoves to be banned soon, along with keeping chickens. Everything which could be used for off-grid self-sufficiency will be targeted.

Never mind that the creation of electric power is highly polluting. We won't mention that.

👍 16 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Antonym Jan 13, 2023 12:29 PM

In the EU this sudden "Gas cooking scare" came out about 4 days ago. Walks and talks like a WEF duck....

👍 14 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Antonym Jan 13, 2023 12:34 PM

Reply to Antonym

This was one of the "scientific" and well timed excuses: Indoor particulate matter | TNO

👍 1 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Jos Jan 14, 2023 9:44 AM

Reply to Antonym

It's the outdoor particulate matter which we should be looking into. Try waqi.info (world air quality index) for a view into what some poor urban dwellers have to put up with. Why is some small random town in Northern Ireland (Maghera) suffering worse small particulate pollution (pm2.5) than anywhere else in Europe? Why were the pm2.5 levels so high in lockdown in Southern England peaking at the same time as the peaks in the deaths of the elderly in April 2020? Why were the deaths in the most polluted part of Italy around Milan being attributed to a virus and not to pollution? Why has no one commented on the fact that Wuhan was one of the most polluted parts of China at that time? I posted this at the time on Facebook and was thrown off for trying to warn people that their air quality was the problem not the so-called virus and was banned.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Nick Jan 13, 2023 12:20 PM

When in doubt about how to interpret "new ideas" I always like to watch old episodes of Yes Minister where all this stuff was very clearly explained. We used to joke about how "they'd tax the air if they could"...ahh the good old days

👍 14 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Mucho Jan 13, 2023 11:32 AM

Interesting post from The Bernician:

PUB Appeal Decision To Dismiss PCP Against Four Horsemen (thebernician.net)

Notice of Appeal

Following three unlawful decisions by the Deputy Chief Magistrate, dismissing our Private Criminal Prosecutions against those responsible for the crimes of COVID-1984, one of those decisions is now being appealed to the High Court, where we are also applying for a declaration that the deadly 'vaccine' roll-out is terminated.

As I pointed out on this blog a year ago, after receiving the last of the three void court orders from Judge Ikram, we have stand-alone grounds for appeal of his decisions to throw out the copious evidence from expert and eye witnesses as mere 'hearsay'.

However, over the course of the past year we have seen all the lockdown bollocks come to a sudden end, since when the public awareness of the crimes alleged in our case has grown exponentially, giving rise to the opportunity to launch our appeal out of time.

Moreover, it is precisely because the issues raised are now all mainstream news, as opposed to the 'conspiracy theories' they were dismissed as by the vast majority in this country until very recently, that we could not have appealed before now and expected anything other than another miscarriage of justice.

Demonstrable Facts

Whilst the erring judge easily got away with dismissing the PCP three times, whether on the orders of his 'higher-ups' or not, he was only able to do so because we were making the serious allegations against the defendants long before enough people were ready to believe them, save for the victims' families and a small band of hardcore supporters.

However, we are now much more capable of demonstrating, given the devastating and copious bundles of prima facie evidence we have amassed over the past three years, the following undeniable facts:

The 'vaccines' we attempted to stop being rolled out have killed and maimed countless people, just as we warned they would in our December 2020 application to have Hancock arrested and in the two subsequent applications for summonses to be issued. Government lockdown policies have destroyed critical infrastructure, industry and the economy at the expense of the taxpayer and small and medium scale businesses, whilst big business has benefitted from those losses to the tune of many billions of pounds. The Imperial College Model, upon which the entire world was forced to rely in justification of locking us all down and imposing draconian government policies, has long since been proven beyond reasonable doubt to be entirely fraudulent. It is now beyond question that the modus operandi of government ministers and advisors was to maximise 'vaccination' uptake, as per the UN's Sustainable Development agenda to 'immunize' to entire population of the Earth from every imaginable 'disease' and 'virus' the WHO identify as a potential pandemic. All the available evidence shows that none of the COVID 'vaccines' should have been granted emergency approval by the Gates-funded MHRA, on the advice of Hancock, Whitty, Vallance and Ferguson, each of whom insisted from the start that the vaxx was going to be the only way out of perpetual lockdowns. Hancock is now a disgraced former health secretary, who has been told by his constituency party members that he can't run in the next General Election, which means the corrupt judiciary no longer has any reason to protect him from the consequences of his heinous crimes. It cannot now even be disputed that Hancock presided over the implementation of genocidal government policy, using vast quantities of Midazolam and Morphine on anybody of any age who was diagnosed as having or being likely to catch COVID and die. There remains no evidence whatsoever which shows that SARS-COV-2 has ever been isolated or purified under established laboratory protocols and therefore in law it does not exist.

👍 14 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

rechenmacher Jan 13, 2023 2:04 PM

| Reply to Mucho

Well done!

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

NixonScraypes Jan 13, 2023 3:37 PM

| Reply to Mucho

That Law for you- all they have to do not let you in court. "But I was a fool, playing by the rules. The winner takes it all.... The judges will decide, the likes of me abide" abba.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Jeffrey Strahl Jan 13, 2023 7:01 PM

Can't wait for intelligent homes which will let us and the proper authorities know when our actions are simply not healthy and safe either for us or the community, be it the way we cook food, the food we eat, the stuff in our bodily discharges. The AI entity will thus be able to keep everyone safe by appropriately controlling our access to the outside world. Can't wait. 😊

PS: have you ever tried cooking with electric stoves? Good luck having good control over the heat.

👍 13 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Lorie Jan 13, 2023 8:56 PM

| Reply to Jeffrey Strahl

True dat. you can't cook well on electric stoves. Anyone who actually cooks knows that.

👍 5 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Pilgrim Shadow Jan 13, 2023 9:35 PM

| Reply to Lorie

Irrelevant. You can't cook if there's no food.

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

dom irritant Jan 14, 2023 6:24 AM

| Reply to Lorie

try cooking on an open fire

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

May Hem Jan 13, 2023 9:23 PM

Reply to Jeffrey Strahl

Presently being marketed are "smart" vacuum cleaner robots. As well as inefficiently cleaning, they map the inside of your home and transmit the digital data. Probably analyse air quality and send that info as well.

"iRobot Roomba i3+ EVO (3550) Self-Emptying Robot Vacuum – Now Clean By Room With Smart Mapping, Empties Itself For Up To 60 Days, Works With Alexa, Ideal For Pet Hair, Carpets, etc."

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Veri Tas Jan 14, 2023 12:14 AM

Reply to Jeffrey Strahl

Oh, so looking forward to smart toilets!

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Penelope Jan 13, 2023 5:17 PM

"I believe we should stop trying to prevent all symptomatic infections in healthy, young people by boosting them with vaccines containing mRNA from strains that might disappear a few months later," (Dr. Paul "Murderer" A. Offit, an FDA vaccine panel adviser and professor of pediatrics at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia).

TRANSLATION: I'm afraid I'll get the death penalty for knowingly approving the death-shot.

[Not enough backpedaling & not soon enough Dr. Offal]

👍 13 -1 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Hemlockfen Jan 13, 2023 10:16 PM

Reply to Penelope

Fryem!

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Veri Tas Jan 14, 2023 12:22 AM

Reply to Penelope

Dr Paul Profit is only scared that the new mRNA technology in vaccines will take away from the millions he is making from his roto"virus" vaccine.

From a 2015 article:

Dr Offitt, who has made millions of dollars developing, licensing and selling Rototeq, a rotovirus vaccine that sheds in the stool for weeks after the shot. Rototeq has caused 350 deaths and was once found to be contaminated with pig viruses. Offit's vaccine was taken off the market temporarily because it caused occasionally fatal intussusception in infants.

Dr Offit once proclaimed that vaccines are so safe that an infant could be given a thousand vaccine doses without harming the child! And yet, a few years ago, when there was an $10,000 reward offer for any physician who would swallow the contents of a (that is, ONE) typical vaccine after being informed of the toxic ingredients. There were no takers. After all, why would a healthy person want to swallow such toxic stuff (and yet physicians are quite willing to inject the same toxic ingredients into their well babies!).

It is interesting to note that if vaccines were to be dumped in an EPA monitored landfill, they would have to be labeled as hazardous waste, because of the presence of mercury, aluminum, formaldehyde, propylene glycol (antifreeze), squalene, viral particles and many other contaminants of many of the vaccines.

http://duluthreader.com/articles/2015/02/11/4787_whats_behind_bigpharmas_measles_media_blitz

👍 2 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Moneycircus Jan 13, 2023 3:03 PM

The main story is, of course, MP Andrew Bridgen and the fact that The Guardian has compared him to misogynist Andrew Tate, while deftly side-stepping the allegations of "antisemitism" laid by Matt Hancock after Bridgen dared to compare the toll of the injectables to the six million.

This is politics – the sharp edge where politicians and corporations cuturally appropriate the Holocaust in order to protect power.

👍 14 -2 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Moneycircus Jan 13, 2023 3:32 PM

Reply to Moneycircus

Here's The Guardian article – Comment is clearly not free but captured.

<https://www.theguardian.com/commentisfree/2023/jan/13/andrew-brigden-andrew-tate-online-safety-bill>

👍 5 -1 🗨️ ➔ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 3:59 PM

Reply to Moneycircus

"You can't stop the likes of Bridgen and Tate saying dangerous things – but you can take away their soapboxes"

I.e.

You can't stop them talking but you can stop them being heard.

👍 9 -2 🗨️ ➔ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 5:20 PM

Reply to Moneycircus

Gaby Hinsliff demonstrating yet again that unhesitating submission to the Holy covid tale from the dawn of the new pandemic aeon. And see the draconian dogmatic totalitarian memes giving birth to such slithery notions as the "watered down" online safety bill.

Oh dear Gaby! Is that nervously belligerent liberal facade trembling as you try to maintain a "Leftist dissident" air whilst sinking down into the New Normal Nazism? Are the salivating parasitic mouths above getting a little impatient with your rapidly fading ability to keep the punters in check?

I foresee an increasingly hysterical shuffling of woke cards to pile in as much racism, religion, regressive and Reactionary labels as possible as your little cardboard boat flounders.

👍 6 -1 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Seansaighdeor Jan 13, 2023 8:00 PM

Reply to Moneycircus

It isn't so much as appropriating the HC for their own ends as demonstrating exactly who is in charge and a good indicator of their historical background.

The financial oligarchy are at the heart of most things and they historically have been found in a certain ethnic grouping. That isn't the whole story by any means but is certainly a big factor of it.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 7:57 PM

I think the question "What are they really aiming for here?" also applies to the covid con. They would have known from the start that "full spectrum dominance" was never going to be achieved with this viral manoeuvre i.e. that large areas of the public would never fall for it – and other areas would eventually wake up. No matter – they pushed the whole scam as far as it would go and have managed to effectively restructure public consciousness – not to achieve a consistent new approach but a fair amount of confusion, hesitation, indecision, bickering etc. And on the way there, they have implemented any number of laws and modulations that are clearly here to stay. They have also created a mode in which any re-introduction of the bullshit is now feasible since it has achieved enough credibility to at least guarantee further furtive shiftings in the legal framework.

That it doesn't add up, doesn't make sense, inspires passionate disagreements etc. is now part of the media environment. And don't forget those asinine memes like "denier", "anti-vaxxer", "anti-science" etc. along with any number of spurious new connections e.g. covid rejection with "the Far Right" etc.

👍 11 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 8:20 PM

Reply to George Mc

And then recall the constant stream of bizarre images piling in from the media with all manner of variation of the mask theme – from folks wearing any substitute for masks (tea cloths, sanitary towels) to dressing up their pets in the same, to wearing entire garments stitched from masks – not to mention such pinnacles of idiocy as orchestral players appearing without instruments and just miming, to masked choruses mumbling the "Ode to Joy".

And then there were the ones that appeared to come from "the opposite side" e.g. those films of hospital staff performing dance moves in empty corridors. Did you see that and cheer? Did you think, "Hey these funky dudes are really blowing the cover on the whole thing"? Did you not hesitate to wonder if it was at all likely for idle bored nursing staff to invent intricate dance shows? Did it ever occur to you that presenting such entertaining spectacles would not have the effect of disillusioning the covid believers but would strike them as obvious hoaxes?

All of the above had the effect of sheer disorientation, of making you doubt everything that came across the news – and this was its entire aim!

As Mick once sang, "It's a gas gas gassssss!"

👍 4 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Jerry Alatalo Jan 13, 2023 12:19 PM

It appears the time has arrived for a powerful collective global pushback against electric "Smart meters"...

👍 11 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Mucho Jan 13, 2023 12:25 PM

Reply to Jerry Alatalo

Everything SMART is a microwave emitting weapon and surveillance tool. It's all military equipment, essentially. Phones are military surveillance devices. It's all weaponised shit, products of the cesspit of humanity that rules over us.

👍 14 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Violet Jan 13, 2023 1:19 PM

Reply to Mucho

Secret Militarised Armaments in Residential Technology 😞.

👍 15 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Paul Watson Jan 13, 2023 2:47 PM

The only way the tyrants will leave us in peace, is when the tree of Liberty is refreshed..

👍 9 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Moneycircus Jan 13, 2023 2:33 PM

So Millennially sensible; schooled to be calm, clean and cold; any solution is possible so long as it serves... the greater good.

We are in an attitudinal change, and not for the better. The zero carbon cult is the opposite of "don't tell... show." It can only be imposed on a population lacking practical skills.

Put two and two together, and obey if the boss says five.

I don't mean any of this in a smug way – although that's how the hive takes it. None of us knows what we don't know.

And we all know less than previous generations – that's the point. Since the metaphysical was excluded from popular education (but retained by the "elite" – which is why they regard themselves as the possessors of a deeper knowledge) we have all suffered education dumbed down year by year.

We are left with a top-down instruction which we cannot challenge since we are not practical – and barely sensate.

Turn off the gas; you know it makes sense.

👍 11 -2 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Clive Williams Jan 14, 2023 1:38 AM

Reply to Moneycircus

Educational dumbed down means your ready to leave and go to work. Your path now set you can never go back.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Simon Switzer Jan 13, 2023 9:07 PM

Open a window

👍 8 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Patrick L. Jan 14, 2023 2:01 PM

Reply to Simon Switzer

I will not hear of such excesses.

#StopLuddites

#Follow_TheScience™

 0
  0
  Reply

Edwige Jan 13, 2023 4:05 PM

MSM source notices there's something going on with UK excess deaths – followed by the inevitable attempts to spin the causes:

<https://www.msn.com/en-au/health/medical/crisis-as-excess-deaths-soar-to-levels-higher-than-during-covid-pandemic/ar-AA13CTwn>

 9
  -1
  Reply

STJOHNOFGRAFTON Jan 14, 2023 4:33 AM

All this manufactured hooaha about gas stoves and gas. There's something lurking out there that is far more dangerous, namely Dihydrogen monoxide. Each year, Dihydrogen monoxide is a known causative component in many thousands of deaths and is a major contributor to millions upon millions of dollars in damage to property and the environment. Some of the known perils of Dihydrogen Monoxide are:

Death due to accidental inhalation of DHMO, even in small quantities.

Prolonged exposure to solid DHMO causes severe tissue damage.

Excessive ingestion produces a number of unpleasant though not typically life-threatening side-effects.

Gaseous DHMO can cause severe burns.

DHMO Contributes to soil erosion and leads to corrosion and oxidation of many metals.

DHMO can contaminate electrical systems where it often causes short-circuits.

Exposure of your car's brakes to liquid DHMO could cause loss of effective braking power.

DHMO is found in biopsies of pre-cancerous tumors and lesions.

All three physical states of DHMO are associated with killer cyclones, hurricanes and deadly storms.

Thermal variations in DHMO are a suspected contributor to the El Nino weather effect.

So there you go. The gas stove crisis is the current thing. However, don't expect the authorities or their lackeys, the lame stream media, to keep you informed about the dangers of Dihydrogen monoxide toxicity.

 9
  -2
  Reply

Ananda Jan 13, 2023 5:54 PM

Over the last 3 year gas stoves have skyrocketed in price and usage as there fairly cheap to use overall.

Gas canister is approximately 1.50$ and will last a whole week of hard use off cooking and making constant teas / coffee etc in boiling of water.

My Asia friends have been using them for years.

It became very well known in the van / car community as in people not being able to afford to live in homes no more due to the costs.

Your argument fools flat on it face, as you dont work in the real world Kit.

Most air is regulated as in A/c in most awful buildings, especially the cooperates.

The yanks love this shit air quality and the E.U hospitality industry and work environments is trying to mimic this fukcin dreadful Yanks inspired A/c air control.

DWP (department of work and pensions building) in the U.K has air control from HQ.

So does HMC courts/tribunals. as mentioned and most cooperate buildings have this air control.

So do new Colleges and University's. HQ air control.

Not forgetting Hospitals. Schools.

The Windows are hardly ever open and some places the window are locked shut.

Within a majority of these environments the microwave is the only form of new world cooking.

Air = breathing = control hypnotism is also control of mind body spirit. Thats for a more deeper decision.

My theory is this.... The Gas Oil company's (which is the government) putting the pressure in – to stopping people finding this cheaper option.

War of energy.

👍 9 -2 🗨️ Reply

Ananda Jan 13, 2023 6:24 PM

Reply to Ananda

20$ including free gas canister.

👍 8 0 🗨️ Reply

Fugazi Shoe-gazy Jan 13, 2023 4:26 PM

Leaving aside the obvious surveillance aspect (which is why I want as few Internet connected devices as possible in my apt and none on my body) does any of this stuff even work? Like all the fit trackers seem very dubious to me beyond tracking heart rate – I'm skeptical they can really assess sleep quality for instance.

👍 7 0 🗨️ Reply

Edith Jan 13, 2023 9:06 PM

Reply to Fugazi Shoe-gazy

And even the heart rate monitors are fairly useless,,,if one has a heart that doesn't beat regularly they get confused....and heart rate variability is more the thing that matters and very few handle that....just a gimmick to make the obsessive feel happy when out doing anything with one on....they even have them in the pool swimming....one isn't supposed to just enjoy life any more...

👍 4 0 🗨️ Reply

Fugazi Shoe-gazy Jan 13, 2023 10:17 PM

Reply to Edith

Right – and the majority of people buying this shit are just on the couch anyways.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Marfanoi Jan 13, 2023 10:01 PM

Reply to Fugazi Shoe-gazy

The electronic scales app is a blag.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Damo Arty Jan 13, 2023 1:51 PM

Fined for farting!!?

👍 7 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Paul_too Jan 13, 2023 4:01 PM

Reply to Damo Arty

Some extra good citizen points if it's a plant based fart though.

👍 6 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

SeamusPadraig Jan 14, 2023 12:51 AM

Reply to Paul_too

Or a bug-based fart.

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

SeamusPadraig Jan 14, 2023 12:51 AM

Reply to Damo Arty

According to The Science[TM], global warming itself is caused by cow farts. Can people farts be much safer? 🤔

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Dude Jan 13, 2023 11:14 AM

I think you are wrong.. its about getting rid of natural gas to fulfill Agenda2030 STG's or Agenda 2050 net zero targets.

👍 7 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Edwige Jan 13, 2023 1:15 PM

Reply to Dude

It's both -you're right but in the slightly longer term.

They've made their hatred of gas very clear. The ability to turn off electricity at the flick of a switch is what they want. Bottled gas offers too much independence.

👍 16 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

cs pa Jan 13, 2023 8:31 PM

The scary part is that it is not only the US. Why do the international press suddenly in the same week suddenly discover the problems with gas stoves?

In a joint letter sent in Nov 22, the European Public Health Alliance (EPHA) and 14 other signatories called upon European Commission executive vice-president Frans Timmermans and EU Commissioner for Energy Kadri Simson to phase out domestic gas cooking appliances, as they endanger Europeans' health.

Then following up, they published some report this week. This came out in the Italian press, not sure if it's a mistake or what but the headline writer did not get the memo: it says to limit the damage just open the windows.....

https://www.repubblica.it/salute/2023/01/10/news/cucina_inquinamento_fornelli-382880295/

👍 6 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

RegretLeft Jan 13, 2023 1:50 PM

There's that word again: "tackle" (as in "how to tackle" one problem or another) – that is a very revealing lexical red flag (used here by the WEF) – I do not think now for a moment that it is an innocent (British? / football) idiom – at a minimum, it signals some sort of official approval for some promoted "solution" (to some promoted "problem") – I started to notice it 8-10 years ago when "media reports" were filled with the heavy-breathed news that the new Pope Francis had decided to "tackle" climate change – the word occurred over and over again in that context.

👍 6 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

jubal hershaw Jan 13, 2023 8:26 PM

| Reply to RegretLeft

As the Pope is a Fisher of Men's Souls he meant he was going to use his fishing gear (tackle) to combat 'climate change'.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

SeamusPadraig Jan 14, 2023 12:53 AM

| Reply to RegretLeft

It's an Americanism. It's been used here in the US all my life. I'm sure it comes from US football, where tackling opponents is an essential part of the game.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Willem Jan 14, 2023 6:59 AM

The only thing the western world has to sell by now is propaganda and 'smart' meters.

In hindsight, it's like as if the wall fell in 1989, and now we all live in East Germany

👍 5 0 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Violet Jan 13, 2023 2:32 PM

UK cash points are covertly stealing your biometric data.

<https://youtu.be/zZRIjFjhapo>

👍 6 -1 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

banana Jan 13, 2023 3:41 PM

| Reply to Violet

thanks, stickers it is

👍 1 -1 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

WillianHill Jan 13, 2023 4:04 PM

| Reply to Violet

You do realize that the Bank knows who you are when you go to a cash machine right?

If true it means nobody could use my card in a cash machine because the camera will check my identity. Why is that bad?

👍 0 -11 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

dad Jan 13, 2023 5:43 PM

| Reply to WillianHill

...did they ever say only the card holder can use it?

The Chinese system has no doubt all this data already on its citizens, thats fine because our government is not like the CCP...or is this where its ambitions lie?

👍 1 -1 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

WillianHill Jan 13, 2023 7:13 PM

| Reply to dad

Yes they always say only the card holder can use it, what do you think signatures are for.

👍 0 -2 🗨️ ➡️ Reply

Ananda Jan 13, 2023 6:29 PM

| Reply to Violet

slight fear porn.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Edith Jan 13, 2023 9:11 PM

Reply to Violet

My local Woolworth shop busily takes mine each time I shop and if they are not others are with their surveillance cameras everywhere...it is all rather tedious but I suspect they will soon have so much data they will implode....

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

el Gallinazo Jan 13, 2023 1:58 PM

Excellent article, Kit. Street smarts are the real intelligence.

👍 7 -2 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Moneycircus Jan 13, 2023 1:07 PM

It's an offshoot of the Clean Cookstoves scam that raised lot of money for Clinton and associates. Same premise. Available energy, bad. Crumbs from the elite table, good. Predicated on keeping you safe™.

Frankly, when it gets cold here in the post-Soviet space we sit in the kitchen and turn on the gas hob... so long as you have fortochka and some incoming/outgoing air there's no problem.

👍 5 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Rob Jan 13, 2023 12:33 PM

The same mofos that won't look into clot shot issues care about our health with indoor air quality?

if people don't see that this is pure bullshit, I don't know what to say to

(From <https://leftlockdownsceptics.com/alleged-cia-involvement-in-jfk-assassination-goes-mainstream-so-now-what/>)

“And then there is the psychological effect of the Big Lie which is axiomatic in gaslighting. The paradox here is that the bigger the lie, the harder it is for the mind to bridge the gulf between perceived reality and the lie that authority figures are painting as truth. I believe that the prospect of being deceived evinces a primitive emotional response on a par with staring death in the face. We are hard-wired to fear deception because we have evolved to interpret it as an existential threat. That's why deception can elicit the same emotional response as the miscalculation of a serious physical threat. Lies told to us don't always bear the same cost as a misjudged red light, but the primitive part of the brain can't make this distinction and we rely on cerebral mediation for a more appropriate but delayed response. And in the long run, the lie is often just as dangerous as the physical threat. Many government whoppers – ‘safe and effective’ – do cost lives.

To avoid the death-like experience of being deceived, a mental defence is erected to deny that the lie is happening. “

👍 6 -1 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

el Gallinazo Jan 13, 2023 1:44 PM

Reply to Rob

It was stated quite simply in the classic film, Animal House, when Otter told Flounder after the frat wrecked his brother's car, "You fucked up! You trusted us!" This was later plagiarised by Mark Zuckaturd in relationship to the rollout of DARPA's Facebook at Harvard.

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

SeamusPadraig Jan 14, 2023 1:05 AM

Reply to el Gallinazo

It's high time we fought back — like we did when the Germans bombed Pearl Harbor! 😂

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Peter Foss Jan 14, 2023 5:05 AM

Did you know that electric ovens burn about 2.5 times the quantity of gas/oil/coal at the power plant side to produce the electricity in the first place?

Gas cooking is by far the greenest way to cook unless you rely heavily in hydropower, what about limiting greenhouse gas emissions when you basically double emissions on the power plant end to achieve the same cooking goal?

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

MattC Jan 14, 2023 11:23 AM

Reply to Peter Foss

Please don't allow facts to get in the way of ideology

👍 3 -1 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Joe Van Steenberg Jan 14, 2023 1:24 AM

Honestly, I was hoping this climate change hoax never would amount to much and never have a significantly negative effect on us. Hope is not a plan. Why we continue to genuflect to these megalomaniacs and embrace their ridiculous restrictions is beyond me. What ever caused the vast majority of humanity to be born without backbones?

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

jubal hershaw Jan 13, 2023 7:50 PM

The outside air quality in Wuhan China was so bad people stayed indoors and got Covid from indoor air pollution. Homes have become gas chambers.

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

jubal hershaw Jan 13, 2023 8:05 PM

Reply to jubal hershaw

Is Covid-19 about to be rebranded as Sick Building Syndrome ?
Maybe, maybe not, but SBS could then be used to explain Sudden Death syndrome although that might make it difficult to justify home detentions for the 'infected'.

👍 6 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

johnnyo Jan 14, 2023 2:05 AM

Reply to jubal hershaw

just a fabulous comment jubal ! so brief yet so deep

😊❤️ #1 for the week with fertility just below a clos second
i really love this place

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

fertility Jan 13, 2023 8:21 PM

Reply to jubal hershaw

The outside air quality in Wuhan China was so bad people stayed indoors and got Covid

Maybe if they had Gain of function with bat control-inwawonder cure they wouldnt of caught covid. ??

Unicorn testing kit is 96% safe and effective!!

Horse flu.

If your horse has a running nose, it could mean it got Equine Flu

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

wardropper Jan 14, 2023 2:16 AM

Reply to fertility

Everybody knows that horse 'flu is caused by humans poking things up horses' noses.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Thom Sheaffer Jan 13, 2023 1:40 PM

Maybe it's a chick thing. My wife's got an electric air filtering/humidifying/dehumidifying/ionizing machine plugged into just about every room of our condo. That's in addition to the one per room air conditioner/heater/dryers. Not to mention the two or three mist blowing aroma vaporizer/light shows she's got. So, maybe as we get more chicks running the government bureaus, maybe we get saddled with more chick stuff.

👍 8 -4 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

NixonScraypes Jan 13, 2023 3:27 PM

Reply to Thom Sheaffer

The only hope for TACKLING the zero carbon racket is when the ladies realise they won't be able to have at least one hot bath a day, maybe not even weekly. Hell hath no fury...

👍 7 -1 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Freecus Jan 13, 2023 1:05 PM

UN SDG #7 states that "2.4 billion people still use inefficient & polluting cooking systems", quite a coincidence..

👍 4 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

jubal hershaw Jan 13, 2023 8:31 PM

Reply to Freecus

Even more dont have lavatories, they have to do it in the fields (though John Lennon did sing "Why dont we do IT in the streets?")

👍 1 0 🗨️ Reply

SeamusPadraig Jan 14, 2023 1:04 AM

Reply to jubal hershaw

Technical point: the song was called 'Why don't we do it in the road?' and it was actually sung by Paul McCartney.

👍 1 0 🗨️ Reply

Johnny Jan 13, 2023 11:53 AM

So, it's gas stoves and heaters that are causing Sudden Death Syndrome.

Better go lectric.

Better buy some Smart pills.

Better buy another telly.

👍 4 0 🗨️ Reply

Mucho Jan 13, 2023 11:50 AM

Lisa Marie Presley death: Only child of Elvis Presley dead aged 54 (msn.com)

The singer/songwriter – who was the daughter of late music legend Elvis Presley and actress Priscilla Presley – was rushed to hospital on Thursday (12.01.23) after suffering a cardiac arrest but passed away later at the age of 54, leaving her family "shocked and devastated".

R.I.P.

👍 4 0 🗨️ Reply

Placental_Mammal Jan 14, 2023 4:30 AM

Reply to Mucho

Long Convid?

👍 0 0 🗨️ Reply

Chichi Jan 14, 2023 8:23 AM

Setting up air pollution meters is right, but the location is wrong! They must be placed outdoors to demonstrate chemtrail air pollution!

👍 3 0 🗨️ Reply

JKR Jan 13, 2023 11:28 PM

What ever happened to acid rain?

👍 3 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

hele Jan 14, 2023 5:35 AM

Reply to JKR

..well acid is making a comeback-thank god.

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Thom Sheaffer Jan 13, 2023 10:30 PM

I miss burning leaves.

👍 3 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Victor G. Jan 14, 2023 9:03 AM

Reply to Thom Sheaffer

You can easily mix leaves with buds in your jays. It makes for a lighter and at times more useful buzz ...

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Martin Usher Jan 13, 2023 6:01 PM

Its less about air quality and more about packing people into small, tightly closed, spaces. “Pay More for Less” is the order of the day because that’s the only way we can maintain the semblance of the status quo while growing the population. (SciFi writers visualized it as a dystopia, an easy process because all you do is take your everyday life and extrapolate it.) Unlike the tiny homes of yesteryear, the ‘back to backs’, the modern house needs to be sealed to minimize energy consumption which means that indoor air quality is going to be negatively affected by open flames.

As with any change there’s usually a wealth of information and disinformation frothing up to justify it, especially if that change has a negative impact on people as a whole. There’s also the issue of how much is enough. For example, in our world we have a quasi-governmental agency called the AQMD that’s charged with monitoring and maintaining air quality. Initially it had an urgent task — the air quality in Los Angeles was legendary, and even then most people had to experience it to actually understand how bad it was. Cleaning it up to a decent standard was relatively straightforward but posed the problem of what to do next. Cars are now at the point where most of the pollution they generate is from tire and brake pad wear, for example, and they’re easy to control because they don’t have powerful political lobbies on their side. Trucks were tougher. Then there’s railway locomotives and ships in the harbor. And industry, of course. But eventually you’re looking for details — wood burning fires are easy, barbeques and garden tools and portable generators, not so much. But the regulations grind on until they discover not the common gas stove but the gas everything else — home heating, water heating. This may turn out to be a tough nut to crack because the infrastructure isn't there to support a Renewable Energy Utopia so they just mandate 'no gas hookups' at the local level and leave it to the customer to think something out. Whatever happens, the AQMD rumbles on, getting more and more zealous as the problems are eliminated....with no end in sight.

Its not just California. What we do influences other countries. My brother ran headlong into similar regulations in the UK and all he wanted to do was swap out an aging dual fuel boiler for a new one. Should be simple. It wasn't. I can see a lively trade in older, used, appliances in the future.

👍 3 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Clive Williams Jan 13, 2023 10:34 PM

Reply to Martin Usher

Where does your brother live in the UK. They'll help him with an energy efficient boiler. Your best asking local traders and let them sort inspection chit. Aftermarket new. I know what you mean about old appliances. UK/US there are classics imo.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Victor G. Jan 14, 2023 9:09 AM

Reply to Martin Usher

The only way the US of As can "influence" other countries is by bullying them. If that doesn't work they'll bomb the crap out of you.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Owen Jan 13, 2023 1:15 PM

Excellent a always Kit, thank you! I note that while I have the attributes I'm not a serial killer—yet!

👍 4 -1 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Grodley Jan 14, 2023 1:20 PM

I guess an air quality meter in your home could also detect whether you're using a wood fire (increasingly demonised these days) and also if/what you're smoking?

👍 2 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Grodley Jan 14, 2023 2:47 AM

There's also been a massive push for filtered air in classrooms over the last couple of years. It's been a common call from Covidian nutters whenever their demands for pupils to be gagged are (correctly) called out as monstrous and damaging.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Veri Tas Jan 14, 2023 12:01 AM

Very interesting! The New Totalitarian Normal is bound to make inroads right into our homes. Can't have people's indoors "unregulated."

Also, I suspect that smart air quality control tech will have an inbuilt mike and camera. Hello Truman Show!

In Melbourne, Australia, they're banning gas stoves for newly built dwellings already. Having watched fascist politics in Melbourne over the past three years, they may eventually very well send around the gas stove police to established buildings too. Some time ago, a TV news report I watched on Bitchute, since I don't watch TV, said that the police force in the state Victoria (capital city, Melbourne) is losing members and they can't recruit enough new members. It seems some police officers do have a heart and a brain.

On a side note, I once lived in an older house that had a gas stove, and I hated the darn thing! The emissions were noticeable and probably unhealthy. The toxic smell was especially noticeable when walking into the kitchen from the outside. Moreover, since I am the head honcho in the kitchen, it was mainly my job to clean the stove top. For those who are unfamiliar, this involves removing all the metal thingamabobs that hold pots and pans over the gas ducts and clean those plus the areas around the gas ducts. Messy, time consuming, frustrating, never again, thank-you-very-much.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Hemlockfen Jan 13, 2023 10:07 PM

Indoor air contaminants arguments have been around for a long long time. Meanwhile, life expectancy keeps increasing. (Except the last three years because of vaccine side effects that are killing young people) Funny how those simple stats are avoided. For years we students sucked in so much formaldehyde while working with our biology lab "specimens". Then there are the reagent gasses we sucked in chem labs... More power for the EPA. The EPA people I worked with were overworked fools who did nothing but put out spot fires. And the fires we set for decades in natural areas the EPA called: "Bad gas." Every fire required an "Emissions Report". Environmental extremists really have no idea what the fuck they are talking about. Just shots in the dark rhetoric generated in an ivory tower somewhere. Paul Ehrlich comes to mind. AOC is a perfect example. She is just a puppet spouting whatever her handlers are telling her to spout. The Young Turks. Most of her funding comes from outside of her congressional district. Same for the rest of "The Squad". They are not good examples. Just proof of fraud. It all stems from the United Nations who wants control of the world. We need to keep an eye on John Kerry, however, who is a true traitor. American leftists hang on his every word as the gospel. AOC is just a foolish reflection of her handlers.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

no-brainer Jan 13, 2023 7:00 PM

DNA can be detected in air as well and I am pretty sure that this is the underlying reason (PCRs & digital health-passports to collect the DNA)

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Sam - Admin2 Jan 13, 2023 11:34 PM

Reply to no-brainer

Admin

Interesting. Could you post a link for detecting DNA in air, for the benefit of our readers?
Thanks! A2

👍 3 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Jeffrey Strahl Jan 14, 2023 5:06 AM

Reply to Sam - Admin2

Supposedly,

<https://www.science.org/content/article/dna-pulled-thin-air-identifies-nearby-animals>

The DNA would have to be known to do so, i.e. but this would involve finding lots of small segments and stitching them together (via a computer program functioning on the segments once they're turned into computer code) into what matches the known DNA. Wouldn't one have to know that the segments being assembled into larger entities, the genomes, actually come from the same genome?

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Clive Williams Jan 14, 2023 7:03 AM

Reply to Sam - Admin2

For human animals, sorry Sam.

Journals Smithsonian biology DNA of animal species.

Personally anything out of the US Smithsonian is brilliant imo.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

George Mc Jan 13, 2023 3:56 PM

Sky now going for the Sam Peckinpah approach:

"Climbing over people... blood on the floor': Patient waited 36 hours for treatment in A&E ordeal"

👍 3 -1 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

banana Jan 13, 2023 3:36 PM

Informative article thanks, I assume this air quality data will be misused to lock down your dirty hunger-game zone.

👍 3 -1 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

NixonScraypes Jan 13, 2023 11:41 AM

They have no shame.

👍 2 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Patrick L. Jan 14, 2023 7:53 AM

The Epic Saga of a Smart Meter Opt-Out (46m 42s):

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Grodley Jan 14, 2023 1:08 PM

Reply to Patrick L.

Years ago, when my supplier in the UK was Ecotricity, I accepted their offer to install a smart meter (this was the very earliest days for these things). By the day the engineer turned up I'd had second thoughts. I chatted with the guy and checked with him that he wouldn't lose out on wages or anything like that if I now declined to have it fitted. He said that was fine and that it didn't affect him at all. I also asked him if he was going to get one fitted at his home. He said he wouldn't be getting one.

I'm so glad I didn't go through with it!!

I later switched from Ecotricity when the CEO started bombarding their customers with emails telling us we must all switch to vegan diets, just like him.

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

hele Jan 14, 2023 5:33 AM

The "1% -of the global population is responsible for 50% of the CO2 emitted by commercial aviation, according to a 2020 study in the Global Environmental Change journal."

👍 1 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Junious Ricardo Stanton Jan 14, 2023 3:09 AM

They will probably legislate air filtration and monitors on all new heating air conditioning and ventilation systems and force citizens to link these into the government surveillance grid, all for our protection and safety of course. The oligarchs will force landlords to install so monitoring system on their properties as well.

👍 1 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

CK_ Jan 14, 2023 2:15 AM

Yup, gas stoves will be blamed for sudden deaths.

👍 1 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Pilgrim Shadow Jan 14, 2023 12:29 AM

The internet of bodies, the internet of things, may they burn in hell.

There Will Come Soft Rains.

https://www.btbores.org/Downloads/7_There%20Will%20Come%20Soft%20Rains%20by%20Ray%20Bradbury.pdf

👍 1 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

cs pa Jan 14, 2023 10:48 AM

I don't think it's about "controlling our homes" per se. I think it's just an extension of the whole hooaha with energy efficiency and the push to have more "energy efficient" housing by selling all those related products whether people want it or not.

They are never going to be able to "control our home" by "harvesting data". I have been hearing this for over thirty years now. They will only ever be able to use blunt instruments like rolling blackouts which only create chaos rather than giving them the ability to control us.

I don't think people understand the scale of data produced by 24/7 monitoring. It is really hard to store and analyze it meaningfully.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Henry101 Jan 14, 2023 4:02 AM

Gas bad, electric good. Here is another psy-op for woke demand to end petroleum/gas and replace with much more inefficient and unreliable 'green energy'. A simple stroke of the pen and legislation happens. Or maybe you still think the old normal rules apply.

👍 0 0 🗨️ ➔ Reply

Susan Dorey Jan 14, 2023 2:03 AM

Egads. Invent a problem, and impose a technological solution. What a POS. I do not doubt that air quality can be a health risk, but technology is not the answer, nor are laws and regulations. How about a little education? Maybe hand out free air filters.

Personally, a gas stove is the best way to cook. Beats electricity every time.

Perhaps they do not want me to cook?

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Gloria Jan 13, 2023 9:03 PM

for Energy Kadri Simson to phase out domestic gas cooking appliances, as they endanger Europeans' health never it is right ?

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Anglia Jan 13, 2023 8:51 PM

hallo its nice one

👍 1 -1 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Lost in a dark wood Jan 13, 2023 5:25 PM

People are still clinging to these outdated notions of "private" property or spaces – that it's "your home". Indeed, since it conflicts with the social contract of collective health, the concept of "private" needed to be abolished.

<https://rumble.com/v24xlp4-pbd-and-neil-degrasse-tyson-duke-it-out-on-the-morality-of-forcing-covid-in.html>

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↪️ Reply

Lost in a dark wood Jan 14, 2023 4:37 AM

Reply to Lost in a dark wood

In the name of Public Health, "private" parts were abolished long ago.

—

<https://www.zerohedge.com/political/dystopian-roots-californias-covid-19-misinformation-law>

Authored by Douglas Eckenrood via The Epoch Times,
Jan 13, 2023

Unfortunately, the California Legislatures' penchant to rely on questionable medical "consensus" is nothing new. During the 1920s, California adopted "model laws," in which law enforcement conducted the proactive arrest of women suspected to have sexually transmitted diseases—all in the name of public health. Literal law enforcement sweeps, arrests, and forced gynecological exams would happen with no probable cause needed.

California relied on the U.S. Attorney General's published opinion that these proactive public health efforts were constitutional and that the public's interest trumped individual liberty. One of the reasons that this unbelievable and sick overreach is even known is that during a particular morality sweep, of the 22 women arrested and inspected that day, two of the arrestees were sisters, one of whom was Margaret Hennessy. The wife of a Standard Oil manager, she was recovering from influenza and was out for some fresh air with her sister, which was a common practice in that day.

Mrs. Hennessy had the courage to go to the news media and let her outrage be known, which should be an example to all of us. California's "morality policy" using public health concerns to expand the power to investigate, detain, and arrest individuals was illegal then and is still illegal now.

The first step in combating authoritarian overreach is not debating what or why they are doing something. It's making the government identify where their authority to impose a mandate or new law comes from and then impose the constitutional test. You already know the answer, don't you? They don't have the authority to do what they are doing.

👍 0 0 🗨️ Reply

Karen Thomas Jan 13, 2023 4:05 PM

The next thing you know, these climate clowns will have all of us living in caves and cooking our meals by a campfire outdoors. GOD help this once great country.

👍 1 -1 🗨️ Reply

May Hem Jan 13, 2023 9:39 PM

Reply to Karen Thomas

Open fires will be banned in the not-too-distant future. Gotta save the planet.

👍 0 0 🗨️ Reply

Hemlockfen Jan 13, 2023 10:33 PM

Reply to Karen Thomas

They would rather you were dead.

👍 1 0 🗨️ Reply

Placental_Mammal Jan 14, 2023 4:25 AM

Reply to Karen Thomas

Once Great ?

Not since Columbus. It was great before that-

Indian Chief "Two Eagles" was asked by a white U.S. Government official, "You have observed the white man for 90 years . You've seen his wars and his technological advances. You've seen his progress, and the damage he's done."

>

> The Chief nodded in agreement.

>

> The official continued, "Considering all these events, in your opinion, where did the white man go wrong?"

>

> The Chief stared at the government official for over a minute and then calmly replied:

>

> "When white man find land, Indians running it, no taxes, no debt, plenty buffalo, plenty beaver, clean water. Women did all the work, Medicine man free. Indian man spend all day hunting and fishing; All night having sex.'

>

> Then the chief leaned back and smiled "Only white man dumb enough to think he could improve system like that."

👍 0 0 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Tom Larsen Jan 13, 2023 2:24 PM

Good journalism!

RE: As part of "backing down" from the stove ban, they will introduce a new bill which sees "smart air monitors" become mandatory in all new-build houses, hotels and rented accommodation.

A likely place to look for this change will be the International Building Code (IBC). Authorities having jurisdiction will modify it for local predispositions, but it is the basis for most building construction in the West. (And it is about as accountable and transparent as government itself.)

👍 4 -4 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

WillianHill Jan 13, 2023 4:16 PM

Reply to Tom Larsen

Absolute crap, UK and European building codes are not related to the International code, they are independent of it. The EU has their own convergence. And building codes are totally transparent and traceable, in the UK to BS standards, which you can read at your leisure.

Your International code is a US based system used in undeveloped countries.

Don't talk about stuff you know nothing about.

👍 1 -5 🗨️ ↩️ Reply

Tom Larsen Jan 13, 2023 4:29 PM

Reply to WillianHill

RE: Don't talk about stuff you know nothing about.

Odd coming from you. You don't know much about the CIA, or left history or any history as I can tell, yet you arrogantly make absurd pronouncements as if you did. Why do you know anything about building code?

You're not trying to persuade anyone or communicate ideas. I don't think you are troll.
You're just an asshole.

 12  -2  Reply

WillianHill Jan 13, 2023 5:45 PM

Reply to Tom Larsen

You're just sad.

 1  -7  Reply

Albert Anderson Jan 13, 2023 9:00 PM

Reply to Tom Larsen

Definitely an asshole. But that's what trolls are as well. I'm fairly regular here and it seems like this entity came on here recently with a specific agenda. They don't have to be paid or affiliated with anyone, just:

“a person who intentionally antagonizes others online by posting inflammatory, irrelevant, or offensive comments or other disruptive content”

 4  -1  Reply

Tom Larsen Jan 13, 2023 9:51 PM

Reply to Albert Anderson

You are right. I looked up the definition of an internet troll after I posted this comment. He's been effective too, I have the inclination just to stay away from Off-G for awhile...

 3  0  Reply

Albert Anderson Jan 14, 2023 12:27 AM

Reply to Tom Larsen

“Effective”. Ya, a bit surprising considering. I have the same inclination.

 1  0  Reply

May Hem Jan 13, 2023 9:45 PM

Reply to WillianHill

I suspect that building codes will be taken over by the one world government – if it ever arrives. Unless your home/s are not up to their very high environmental standards, your property will be taken by the state.

Gotta save the planet mate. You'll own nothing and be very unhappy.

Just another version of the enclosures.

 3  0  Reply

SeamusPadraig Jan 14, 2023 12:41 AM

Reply to WillianHill

But what if the CIA secretly controls all international building codes? 🤔

👍 0 0 🗨️ Reply

WillianHill Jan 13, 2023 3:58 PM

So the story is nothing is going to happen, but be afraid? ...you risk getting the label fear porn...but I get your point.

👍 3 -7 🗨️ Reply

fertility Jan 13, 2023 5:14 PM

Reply to WillianHill

Only thing missing from the article was a gas canister advert and link to a site that sells them. It the type of shit that Deranged ranger and Alex Jones disinfowhere does.

👍 10 -6 🗨️ Reply

Copyright © 2023 OffGuardian.
Privacy Policy.
powered by WordPress .
Theme: OffGuardian by Wild Reality.net .